Applications are invited for a non-tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Clinical Assistant Professor starting January 1, 2016. The Graduate School of Social Work (GSSW) is seeking to add a colleague whose innovative ideas, program development and teaching skills support our mission of educating MSW students and fostering social and economic justice. In addition to teaching courses in the MSW program, this faculty member will coordinate all aspects of the Social Work with Latinos/as Certificate Program. For more about GSSW, the Latinos/as Certificate Program, and the University of Denver, please visit www.du.edu/socialwork.

The Graduate School of Social Work is a vibrant community of scholars and teachers committed to having a diverse faculty and student body. The School’s curriculum, research, and community partnerships emphasize social and economic justice, along with an understanding of and respect for social, political, and cultural diversity both nationally and internationally. GSSW provides an intellectual, collegial, and supportive environment that fosters interdisciplinary and international educational opportunities. GSSW engages in collaborative projects locally, regionally, nationally, and internationally.

All candidates must have an MSW degree with a minimum of 2 years post-MSW practice experience (preferably 5 years post-MSW experience) and the ability to teach in one or more areas of the Foundation and Concentration curriculum. Candidates must hold and demonstrate proficiency in Spanish at the Advanced-High level, or native proficiency, in order to teach the required courses in Spanish for the certificate program. Candidates must have the ability to mentor and advise MSW students and engage with community programs and agencies. Persons who have social work practice experience with diverse populations with a specific focus on Latino/as populations and whose program development, teaching, and community service will contribute to the diversity of our academic community are encouraged to apply. This position is a twelve-month appointment with renewable multi-year appointments.

Applicants should submit their curriculum vitae and a letter that illustrates their interests and expertise in teaching and program development to the online application system at the University of Denver website www.du.edu/hr/employment/jobs (only online applications can be considered). In addition, three letters of reference and teaching evaluations (if available) should be sent directly to the dean’s office.

James Herbert Williams, PhD,
Dean and Milton Morris Endowed Chair
University of Denver
Graduate School of Social Work
Craig Hall 306
2148 S. High Street
Denver, CO 80208

Applications will be reviewed beginning August 1, 2015 until the position has been filled. Early application is advised. The position responsibilities will begin January 1, 2016.

The University of Denver (Colorado Seminary) is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution. It is the policy of the University not to discriminate in the admission of students, in the provision of services, or in employment, on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, marital or veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or disability.