We are seeking individuals interested in community health and who would enjoy the opportunity to shape the decision making skills of young people. Listed below are the two types of positions, trainers and implementers, that we are hiring for.

This would be a great part-time opportunity for an MSW student seeking community development experience. Send resume and cover letter to sabrina.moxcey@youngpeopleinrecovery.org. Email or call (330) 754-5304 about any questions on the position or project.

Official Title: Trainer

Compensation: $20 per hour

Work Schedule:
Events will typically be held on weekends or in the evenings, depending on participants’ availability. Trainers will be working 8-10 hours per month.

Additional Information:
Purpose of position: Trainers will be a part of executing Young People in Recovery's preventative health initiative using the InShape Prevention Plus Wellness program, a brief intervention designed to reduce substance misuse and increase positive mental and physical health outcomes among young people.

Essential functions: Implement monthly, one-on-one InShape Prevention Plus Wellness education sessions to 18 to 26-year-olds in the Denver Metro Area; become certified to teach the InShape curriculum to program implementers; assist in quarterly information dissemination sessions on InShape Prevention Plus and co-facilitate quarterly health & wellness activities such as healthy cooking demonstrations, yoga, smoking-cessation, etc.

Required qualifications: Interest in preventative health, community development and youth empowerment. Experience working in behavior change and community health desired. Fluency in Spanish a strong plus.

Working conditions: Will work in various locations including community centers, houses of worship, universities, etc. One-on-one training sessions will typically be held on weekends or after work hours and can range from 4 to 8 hours. Information dissemination and health & wellness activities will also be held on evenings and weekends, typically running 2 hours.
Travel: Must have means to reliable transportation as program will be implemented in various locations in the Denver Metro Area.

Official Title:
Implementer

Compensation:
$18 per hour

Work Schedule:
Events will typically be held on weekends or in the evenings, depending on participants’ availability. Trainers will be working 8-10 hours per month.

Additional Information:
Purpose of position: Implementers will be a part of executing Young People in Recovery’s preventative health initiative using the InShape Prevention Plus Wellness program, a brief intervention designed to reduce substance misuse and increase positive mental and physical health outcomes among young people.

Essential functions: Implement monthly, one-on-one InShape Prevention Plus Wellness education sessions to 18 to 26-year-olds in the Denver Metro Area; assist in marketing of events through creation and distribution of flyers and posters, calling participants, outreach to events hosts, etc.

Required qualifications: Interest in preventative health, community development and youth empowerment. Experience working in behavior change and community health desired. Fluency in Spanish a strong plus.

Working conditions: Will work in various locations including community centers, houses of worship, universities, etc. One-on-one training sessions will typically be held on weekends or after work hours and can range from 4 to 8 hours. Approximately 2 hours per a month will be dedicated to marketing distribution in high traffic areas and contacting participants and community partners.

Travel: Must have means to reliable transportation as program will be implemented in various locations in the Denver Metro Area.